Vietnamese Kill Reds In Fight

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing 102 enemy troops in a northern frontier battle Sunday but enemy gunners blew up tons of ammunition at a U.S. Navy base just below the eastern end of the demilitarized zone.

A spokesman said South Vietnamese casualties were light in the eight-hour fight with an estimated 600 Communist soldiers, the eighth major encounter since Feb. 29 for government troops below the DMZ. He said the South Vietnamese captured seven suspects and 25 weapons and that their casualties were only three killed and 37 wounded.

As the men of the 2nd South Vietnamese Infantry Regiment battled five miles north of Dong Ha, North Vietnamese gunners blasted the American naval supply and repair base at the mouth of the Cua Viet River, 15 miles south of the DMZ.

U.S. spokesmen said casualties at the naval complex were light, but they reported numerous fires and secondary explosions in stockpiles of ammunition and other war materiel.

More artillery rounds, about 200 of them, landed on a South Vietnamese outpost 11 miles below the DMZ, and nearly 40 shells hit a nearby base camp of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division. No casualties or serious damage was reported at the Marine camp, and one soldier was killed at the government outpost.

For the third straight day, the Marines at besieged Khe Sanh received more than 250 rounds of rocket, artillery and mortar fire Sunday. U.S. headquarters said American casualties were light.

The Americans countered with fighter-bomber raids against North Vietnamese gun positions inside the DMZ, and B52 saturation bombing attacks on suspected positions of enemy troops menacing Khe Sanh and Hue. The B52s also struck at enemy positions 12 miles northwest of Dak To, near the Cambodian border, and 25 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen for the first time reported a Communist truck convoy in the vicinity of Hue. They said American gunship helicopters sighted eight camouflaged trucks 15 miles southwest of Hue last Friday and destroyed all eight with rocket and machine-gun fire. Seven of the trucks were two and a half tonners and one was three quarters of a ton, the spokesmen said.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland activated the new military command for South Vietnam's northernmost provinces where the Communist forces along the frontier had grown to five divisions, or about 50,000 troops.

"Their forces are formidable," Westmoreland said. "We intend to confront them."

The Communist leadership considers Thua Thien and Quang Tri provinces part of North Vietnam. I anticipate more very heavy fighting."

Khe Sanh, the isolated Marine base in Khe Sanh's northwest corner, is in Quang Tri, and Hue, where the Communists held out for nearly a month of fierce fighting during the February lunar new year offensive, is in Thua Thien.

Until the February offensive, Khe Sanh had been considered the likeliest target for a big Red drive, but recently one of the top U.S. officers in Vietnam said he now thought Hue would be the next objective.

This idea was echoed today by Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman, commander of the U.S. Marines in Vietnam, and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

Freight Rate Increases Are Asked By Railroads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's railroads asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today for freight rate increases ranging from 3 to 10 per cent—with hikes of 5 to 6 per cent on most food products.

One industry source estimated the total cost of the package at about $500 million—and this is the amount at which the railroads have set their labor and materials cost increases for the last year.

The railroads' request came in a 76-page document. But there was no statement accompanying it designed to justify the increase.

Among the proposed rate increases were: generally 6 per cent in grain and grain products, 5

Strong Civil Rights Measure Is Approved By the Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today approved a landmark civil rights bill designed to strike down racial barriers in four-fifths of the nation's housing.

The compromise measure, passed after nearly two months of debate, also embraces anti-riot provisions, federal protection for civil rights workers, and extended constitutional guarantees for American Indians.

The Senate passed the bill 71 to 20.

The bill was sent back to the House, where its fate is in doubt.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., floor manager for the bill, praised fellow senators for backing the nation's first federal ban on housing discrimination despite mail running heavily against it.

Hart said he knew colleagues

"who would have been politically more comfortable if the issue had crept away to a quiet death and yet who voted to keep it alive and flourishing."

"The Senate," he said, "responded not to the demands of expediency but to the demands of history."

Southern senators, who staged a seven-week filibuster against the bill before the debate was cut off on a fourth and final try, took the position that anti-riot and other amendments had made the compromise measure more palatable. There was no effort to forestall the final vote today.

The Senate had cleared the way for passage with a 61-19 vote Friday favoring the expanded compromise version. The House originally passed the bill last August as a limited measure dealing only with federal protection of minority groups' constitutional rights.

House leaders have indicated they may try to pass the Senate bill as it is rather than risk a possible stalemate by sending it to a Senate-House conference committee for adjustment of differences.

In 1966 the House passed a more limited open housing measure which was strangled to death in the Senate by a filibuster.

Now the situation is reversed and there is a question whether the House will accept the Senate bill.

The Senate has added amendments that would eventually bar discrimination in 80 per cent of the nation's housing and extend Bill of Rights protection to American Indians.

It also wrote in an anti-riot provision similar to a separate bill passed by the House last year.

House leaders said they hoped to bring the Senate version directly to the floor rather than send it to a House-Senate conference committee where it could become embroiled in a further stalemate.

The House could vote only to accept or reject the entire package if it were brought directly to the floor and leaders reportedly hope support of other provisions will outweigh opposition to the open-housing feature.

The House passed a more limited housing measure in 1966 but many of its supporters were defeated in the election that year.

The way for Senate enactment of the measure was cleared last Monday after seven weeks of debate and maneuvering when a 65-32 vote succeeded in shutting off debate on the fourth try.

The 19 opponents Friday included 15 Southern Democrats, two Southern Republicans and Sens. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., and John J. Williams, R-Del.

The bill's major provisions would:

—Gradually prohibit discrimination in the sale or rental of housing. By Jan. 1, 1970, it would affect all multi-unit (See STRONG, Page 4.)

Clear Way To Adjourn Legislature

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — House and Senate conferees finished their work on the major appropriation bills near midnight Saturday, clearing the way for automatic adjournment of Missouri's special legislative session at midnight Tuesday.

The conferees wound up with a total budget about $9.7 million more than Gov. Warren E. Hearnes recommended.

One observer called it a fair and reasonable compromise solution of the arguments between the two houses.

Over the weekend the bills were put in shape so they could be considered by the House later today.

Ordinance On Plant Approved

The Sedalia City Council met in special session at 12:30 p.m. Monday and approved an ordinance calling for a city-wide election on a $1,050,000 industrial general obligation bond issue for construction of a new Town & Country Shoes, Inc., plant here.

The council met after William Hall, Sedalia industrial development director, received word last Friday of approval of an application made to the Missouri Division of Commerce and Industrial Development.

Hall, who attended the special meeting of the council, said the vote was unanimous.

The bond issue comes up for approval by Sedalia voters April 2.

In question is an industrial bond issue similar to the one approved last year for Rival Manufacturing Co. Hall stressed that, like the Rival bond issue, the Town & Country bond issue would not be at the taxpayers' expense, since the company itself pays for the bonds.

The money from the issue will be used to construct a new, 65,000-square-foot structure on West Highway 50, just west of Biedermans.

The new facility would be used entirely for manufacturing and would mean eventual conversion of the present production site to other purposes.

Also attending the council meeting was Norman Lewis, vice-president of Investment Bankers, Kansas City, and several Town & Country officials.

Teachers Cleared To Resume Duties

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Florida's nonworking teachers were cleared today to return to their classrooms, but only in counties where school boards agreed to take back all personnel.

Phil Constans, executive secretary of the Florida Education Association, called for teachers to remain out in counties where "vindictive" school boards are refusing to reinstate all teachers and administrators.

U.S. Would Halt Bombing to Talk, Rusk Tells Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk offered today to stop the bombing of North Vietnam to get war settlement talks going. He did not add any of the usual qualifications, but neither did he say any of them had been dropped.

Testifying in the long-awaited confrontation with war critics on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Rusk said in order to bring about the talks, "We are willing to meet their principal condition—stopping of the bombing."

He renewed the U.S. pledge that "we are prepared to negotiate today without any conditions."

The only thing he added was a suggestion there might be discussions about steps to reduce military action.

There was no talk about whether Rusk's remarks reflected any modification of the San Antonio formula advanced by President Johnson in a speech in the Texas city Sept. 29, 1967.

The chief executive said the United States "is willing to stop all aerial and naval bombardment of North Vietnam when this will lead promptly to productive discussions." He said this assumes that while discussions proceeded, North Vietnam would not take advantage of the bombing recess or limitation.

Rusk's statement came at the end of a sharp exchange with Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, who told the secretary he is more than ever convinced "that our present policies in Vietnam have had and will have effects 'abroad and at home that are nothing short of disastrous.'"

Rusk mentioned the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution, which has been a principal vehicle for attacks on the administration by critical senators, saying "we hoped that Tonkin would serve as a deterrent" but that "unfortunately it did not have that deterrent effect."

Fulbright promptly criticized the administration's contention that U.S. responses to the Gulf of Tonkin incident were due to provocations by Communist warboats.

"The provocations to say the least were extremely slight," Fulbright said, adding that "they could well determine that we were determined to attack them."

At another point Fulbright told Rusk there are "striking discrepancies" between events of the war and the administration's description of them.

He said what he called discrepancies have caused a crisis in this country over the war.

Fulbright also told Rusk "I do not accept your version why there has been intrusion" by Communist forces into Thailand. Rusk had cited the increase of Communist guerrillas trained in North Vietnam moving into Thailand as one of the reasons for the U.S. stand in Southeast Asia.

Rusk noted that "we have undertaken not the task of a world policeman but certain aspects of it."

Statements by Fulbright and Rusk, and their answers to one another, consumed the first 40 minutes of the hearing which although scheduled as dealing with the Administration's foreign aid requests was actually intended by both sides as a full discussion of the war.

Fulbright said he had hoped that increased criticism from senatorial sources in the wake of reports the administration is considering a sharp stepup in military activity in Vietnam "would prevail upon the administration to re-evaluate their policies generally."

Rusk said he thinks there is more agreement than generally believed in the United States on the terms for a reasonable settlement of the war, adding that

Crimes of Fraud To Get Attention

ST. LOUIS (AP) — U.S. Atty. Veryl Riddle said Sunday his office will pay more attention to "white collar crime."

Riddle said "People are losing a lot of money and property because of fraud and schemes."

The prosecutor said his office will encourage all appropriate authorities to look for and report suspected violations of federal fraud laws.

Boot to Province Chiefs By Government in Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — In the biggest house cleaning since the Communist lunar new year offensive, the South Vietnamese government fired six of the nation's 44 province chiefs today. Among them was the leader at Hue.

Informed sources said all were removed because they were ineffective, either because of military inefficiency or corruption, or both.

A seventh province chief, previously considered an effective leader before he was seriously wounded in an ambush, was replaced for health reasons, sources said.

Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa was replaced as mayor of Hue and chief of Thua Thien Province by Lt. Col. Le Van Than, who had been assigned to the joint general staff headquarters in Saigon.

Khoa had been severely criticized by U.S. officials for hiding out in civilian clothes for seven days while the Communists overran Hue. One American official said Khoa did nothing about the wave of looting in the stricken city for 17 days and "by then everything had been stolen, sometimes twice."

It was more than three weeks after the capture of Hue before Khoa began to get the shaky government machinery moving at all.

New chiefs also were named for the provinces of Darlac, Binh Thuan, Vinh Long, An Giang, Ba Xuyen and Tuyen Duc.

A new chief also was named for Quang Duc Province, whose head man was killed in a helicopter crash recently.

Approval of New Plant For Joplin Is Rejected

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Supreme Court today held that a laundry is not a manufacturing or industrial plant and so the State Division of Commerce and Industrial Development had no right to approve a $260,000 revenue bond issue planned by the city of Joplin.

In a 13-page decision by Judge Henry I. Eager the court ordered the division to rescind its approval of the project and notify the city of Joplin it had no authority to approve the project in the first place.

The suit against the division was brought by four Joplin laundries and nine citizens. They charged the laundry was a service business and not an industrial plant. It would provide unfair competition to the existing businesses, they said.

The Industrial Development Commission had authorized the revenue bond issue to provide a plant for Industrial Linens Inc. of Columbia as a means of increasing business in Joplin.

Cole County Circuit Judge James T. Riley approved the commission's action but the Supreme Court overturned his ruling.

"Considered in their full context," the court said, "we do not construe the words 'plans for... industrial development' as fairly including commercial laundries. We do not agree with the rulings in the Pennsylvania cases if in fact they are applicable at all to our situation, which we doubt."

The commission had cited Pennsylvania cases as supporting its position.

"We must exercise our own judgment in arriving at which we think the people of Missouri intended and it is our firm belief and our ruling that they did not intend thus to authorize city revenue bond projects for the construction and financing commercial laundries which, in essence, are service businesses."

"We shall not attempt to define an 'industrial plant' in a form which would be applicable to all cases and situations. That would be most difficult, probably misleading as applied to other facts, and perhaps impossible."

"A laundry neither manufactures anything nor does it process anything by changing its characteristics or nature; it is not a plant for large-scale storage or assembly; it merely washes garments, cloths, rags, etc. and in this instance rents out certain accessories."

"In these activities such a project would naturally compete with local business, and perhaps do so with distinct advantages in its favor. A laundry is purely a service institution. Neither the size nor the cost of the building and equipment nor the number of employees is controlling."

Grocer Loses All

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Thieves broke into the grocery store of Gaetano Rago, 72, of West Philadelphia, and carted away a safe Sunday. Police said that inside the 300-pound safe was $15,000 in cash—Rago's savings which he had accrued over 40 years.

The court said the commissioners "have acted outside their jurisdiction by presuming to construe the constitution and to extend its terms to this project; if they had discretion at all, it has been abused, for their action has been wrong 'as a matter of law'."

Nixon, McCarthy Wind Up Campaigns

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon staged a final sprint seeking to turn out the Republican vote, while Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy stuck to his standard low-key style in windup campaigning for Tuesday's season-opening New Hampshire presidential primary.

Nixon's final campaign stand today featured a series of brief visits to his headquarters in five cities. He set the tone at a Nashua reception Sunday night, urging Republicans to vote Tuesday, telling them:

"We're going to win. We're going to win in March and we're going to win in November. It's going to be a new day for America."

There appeared to be no way Nixon, the only major candidate among nine on the Republican ballot, could lose in New Hampshire. The real question: How big a margin can he produce over the late-starting write-in movement for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller?

While Nixon was shaking hands and appealing for a big New Hampshire send-off, Rockefeller conferred in New York with more than 20 Republican leaders who urged him to run for president.

They said Rockefeller would consult with other Republicans within the next few days, and Oregon Gov. Tom McCall said the call for a draft to propel the New Yorker into the campaign was "almost irresistible."

Nixon said Rockefeller "may be closer" to presidential candidacy. He said he did not know much about the New York session—"I wasn't invited to that meeting and I didn't have it bugged."

The former vice president said that if Rockefeller becomes an active rival for the nomination "I will pledge" to campaign on issues, not on personalities. "I will not campaign against him any more than I did against Gov. (George) Romney," Nixon said.

Michigan's Romney had been Nixon's chief opponent in New Hampshire. But Romney was out of the running, knew it, and withdrew as a presidential candidate on Feb. 28.

McCarthy, the Minnesota senator challenging President Johnson's renomination, said if he can get 25 per cent of the vote Tuesday it will be a signal of significant criticism for administration policy on Vietnam and other issues.

"I'm hopeful, and this is not just a vague hope, that we may very well run over 30 per cent," McCarthy said.

McCarthy planned to record an election-eve television program in Boston, then return to New Hampshire to await primary results.

He suggested that if the administration is considering sending another 200,000 men to Vietnam this should have been presented to the people of New Hampshire so they could render a judgment on it in the primary.

"If they really have this in mind," he said in an interview, "they ought to let us know so that there could be a judgment by the people up here."

Democratic Gov. John W. King, chief spokesman for the write-in campaign conducted for Johnson, said the president would win Tuesday by a three to one margin.

Both King and his co-chairman, Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, denied there was a rift between them over campaign tactics.

"Gov. King says 'a significant vote for Sen. McCarthy would be greeted with cheers in Hanoi.' I agree 100 per cent," McIntyre said in a statement Sunday night. "That is unfortunate but true."

McIntyre, in a statement quickly distributed by the McCarthy forces, had said earlier it was an injustice to suggest that "a vote for McCarthy is a vote for Hanoi."

King himself said it was nonsense to talk of disagreement. "It's ridiculous," he said. "Sen.

Racial Problems Await Legislation in Britain

LONDON (AP) — New political trouble over race relations lies ahead when the British government introduces a bill to bar discrimination in jobs and housing.

Officials hope the measure will demonstrate to members of the British Commonwealth, India especially, that Britain is not developing into a society infected with racial discrimination.

Home Secretary James Callaghan is caught between public feeling against Britain's non-white immigrants and various community and national race relations groups rushing to their defense.

Advocates of a keep-Britain-white policy, centered mainly in the suburban middle class and among workers who feel their jobs threatened, tasted success when Britain barred admission of many Asians from Kenya who hold British passports.

Many of the labor party's intellectual supporters feel the proposed antidiscrimination bill is not strong enough, especially in provisions covering employment.

Last July Roy Jenkins, then Home secretary, committed the government to broadening the present race relations act, largely limited to discrimination in public places. There was hardly a protest, but now Callaghan feels he may face a public outcry.

He has admitted the bill would limit the traditional freedoms of Englishmen, but argued that this was in the interest of creating an integrated society.

Under the measure anyone who could prove he couldn't buy a house because of his race would complain to the Race Relations Board. It would sue for damages. Advocates say there would be sufficient proof if a white man bought a house at less money than a Negro had already offered for it.

The government's argument is that colored immigrants must be allowed to get out of their

McIntyre and I have never been at odds."

Nixon said he disagrees with the positions McCarthy has taken but considers the Democratic attacks unfortunate. "All of the candidates are patriotic Americans," he said. "All of the candidates deserve a respectful hearing."

Nigerian Clamp On Americans

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Nigerian authorities are closely watching the movements of foreigners in their war-torn country, including the American community of about 5,000 persons.

Americans had been informally exempted from a 1963 alien registration law, but a top Lagos police officer says "that's changed."

The government-controlled press and radio began criticizing the United States last year after it refused to license the export of military equipment for use in the civil war against secessionist Eastern Nigeria.

According to police, a letter was sent to the American Embassy in Lagos last August advising that Americans would have to register. The law requires an alien resident to register 21 days after arrival in Nigeria, carry a passport, present the book for endorsement if he leaves the country or his province for seven days, and report to an alien control office on his return.

Most aliens did not know of the existence of the law, which had not been enforced. The American Embassy did not notify American residents in Nigeria of their obligation until late February.

By then, scores of Americans, including some Peace Corps volunteers, had had encounters with Nigerian police. Some had been threatened with prosecution.

One American, Phillip Rappaport, head of Nigeria's National Library and holder of top civil servant rank in the federal government, was waiting for trial before the combined pressure of the permanent secretaries of the ministries of economic development and information persuaded the police to release him.

Violators are subject to three months imprisonment or $70 fine.

Although they are not subject to the law, nonresident Americans also have run into trouble with Nigerian security and military officials.

James Miles, a Baltimore seminarian on temporary duty with the Nigerian Red Cross, was held for three weeks, including some time spent in chains, in a Calabar prison.

Most Americans are working here for the Agency for International Development, the Peace Corps, and education and missionary groups.

Government 'Leaks': Behind Windfalls on Wall Street?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The price of stock in a certain company suddenly jumps one day amidst heavy trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The next day the government awards a fat contract to that same firm.

Suspicion arises: Did a government employee or a congressional insider leak advance word of the contract? Or buy a stock themselves based on information obtained in their official capacities?

The realm of government insiders and security dealings is murky. Proving a connection is difficult; analyzing market behavior for clues is filled with pitfalls; legal distinctions can be tricky.

The Treasury Department reported last Tuesday on one information leak that could have meant windfall profits for bond speculators.

The information dealt with a $25 billion sale of U.S. bonds. The treasury report traced its leak to a middle-level employee who died of a heart attack a week after he was suspended.

"I am not convinced this leak is the only one that has occurred," said Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee. He wants to investigate.

Rumors of another government information leak arose last Jan. 25, the day President Johnson activated some air reservists and air guardsmen in response to North Korea's seizure of the intelligence ship Pueblo.

On Jan. 24, stock market prices had declined for the 12th consecutive day. Analysts cited uncertainty over the possibility of war as one cause. The next morning—before Johnson's announcement that reservists would be called up—stock in aerospace and defense industry firms—helped spark a market upsurge. At the time, the advance was described by analysts as technical.

For a time after Johnson's announcement, most stocks dropped. But the aerospace and defense-related issues kept climbing.

By day's end, the gains included McDonnell-Douglas up 2, Boeing and General Dynamics each up 1%, United Aircraft up 2% and Raytheon up 4%.

A spokesman for the Securities and Exchange Commission, which polices the market, acknowledged to the Associated Press that "we're concerned with that naturally." "But it's difficult if not impossible to come up with anything."

A major obstacle to proving a link to a government insider is getting a starting point. Given one individual's name, SEC investigators can pore over thousands of brokers' market transactions until they find what the individual traded.

Given a stock name, probes can see if government or congressional insiders turn up among traders in that issue. But a category as broad as defense-related issues makes an investigation exceedingly difficult.

One individual's purchase or sale, even of enough shares to profit him thousands of dollars, may make no dent in over-all market activity. Thus suspicion may never arise.

Links are even tougher to trade if the insider merely tells his brother-in-law to snap up a certain stock.

In October 1965, Rep. Robert Dole, R-Kan., asked the SEC and the Defense Department to investigate heavy trading in three aircraft companies during two market sessions immediately preceding announcement that a $2 billion government contract had been awarded.

During the two sessions, Lockheed, which got the contract to build the C-5A transport plane, rose 3 3/4 points. The losers, Boeing and Douglas, dropped 7% and 4% respectively.

Whether Congress will take steps to insure against its own members using inside information for stock market profits should soon become apparent.

The Senate Ethics Committee is expected to unveil shortly its proposed standards of conduct. There are indications it will comment on such dealings as part of its recommendations on conflicts of interest.

The "Code of Ethics for Gov-employee had been fired for insider market activity.

Criminal law bars Agriculture Department employees from premature release of crop information or from speculating in commodities on the basis of information not available to the public. Penalties can range to 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Hal Boyle's Column

A 'Treasury of Trivia' In the Daily Mail Bag

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Husbands have been telling their wives for years now that money doesn't grow on trees. However, gold does. Gold has been found in minute quantities in willow, fir and aspen trees, the National Geographic points out. But woodsman, spare those branches. There isn't enough precious metal in them to make it worthwhile to cut down the trees.

America has become one of the most education-conscious nations on earth, but—one-third of its elementary schools still have no library facilities.

It has been found that spiders are devoted mothers. On the other hand, who wants a spider for a mother even if she loved you so much she wanted to wrap all her eight arms around you?

One big reason why life is so difficult for many of the 19 million Americans past 65: their average income is only half that of employees still actively working.

Swiss young men have an odd courtship technique. If a lad is too shy to speak to the girl of his choice, he slips a love note into a flowerpot and leaves it on her window sill. If his Swiss miss takes in the flowerpot, he's accepted—if she leaves it on the sill the lovesick lad is symbolically left out in the cold, too.

Mothers Honored At a Tea

The annual tea for American Field Service mother was given on March 4 by the American Association of University Women at the home of Mrs. James McNeil, 1617 West Seventh. Mrs. Paul Doering and Mrs. Lloyd Roe presided at the table assisted by Miss Erma Keyes, Mrs. John Zulauf, Mrs. Wilfred Lee and Mrs. Jack Cunningham.

Mrs. Zulauf introduced American mothers of former AFS students who have lived in Sedalia a full school year. Each mother either read a letter from her far-away son or daughter or reported on his life since going home. All of them write nostalgia about their long stay in Sedalia. Their invitation to visit them in their own countries are enthusiastic and possibly may be accepted by some of their American families. A bulletin board containing pictures of each of the students was prepared by Mrs. Lee.

Sedalia AFS students were presented as follows: Judith Blythin, England, by her sister, Mary Alice McLaughlin Keith; Christian Kolberg, Norway, by Mrs. R. C. Hemphill (in absentia); Esko Ollila, Finland, by Mrs. Dan Robinson (in absentia); Cleo Tsiatari, Greece, by her grandmother, Mrs. James Mickey; Gunhan Danisman, Turkey, by Mrs. D. R. Edwards; Dieter Kleinschmidt, Germany, by Mrs. Paul Hausam; Eva Nielson, Norway, by Mrs. Floyd Lively; Elia Frietas, Brazil, by Mrs. Fred Lange; Peter Thurell, Sweden, by Mrs. P. Cecil Owen; Michel Dizin, France, by Mrs. William Hopkins; Luciana Lena, Italy, by Mrs. Neil Chapman.

Several Sedalians have been sent overseas for the summer AFS program: Linda Turner to Germany; Stanley Jones to Denmark; Kit Taylor to Germany; Glenda Lewis to Austria; Jane Gray to Turkey; Lou Ann Lange to Denmark; Lois DeMott to Holland. Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Lange reported the most recent activities of their students.

Members of AAUW have expressed their pride in sponsorship of the American Field Service program for international understanding, as well as appreciation of the way that Sedalians have supported the program. A brief business

Accidents

Robert Hall, 37, Kansas City, a passenger in a police car, claimed injuries as a result of a collision between a Yellow cab and a police patrol car at Fourth and Kentucky, about 11:55 p.m. Saturday. Hall was being returned to the police station from Bothwell Hospital where he had been treated for injuries received in the 200 block of East Main earlier.

Hall had been picked up in connection with an alleged assault of Officer Virgil Frazier and taken to the hospital for emergency treatment.

Police patrol car No. 3, driven by Officer William M. Shobe, 32, was headed north on Kentucky and the Yellow cab, a 1966 Plymouth, was driven west on Fourth when the vehicles collided. The left front of the police car was damaged and the left rear bumper and fender on the cab were damaged.

According to police reports, Hall on Sunday claimed his back was injured.

Two persons apparently suffered minor injuries in a two-car accident at 16th Street and Limit about noon Sunday. They were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Goodrich, 1914 West Fourth, who went to the Bothwell Hospital and were later released.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich complained of neck pains and Goodrich drove his wife to the hospital.

Involved were a 1962 Pontiac driven south by Goodrich and stopped at a traffic light, according to the police report, and a 1968 Oldsmobile also driven south by Mrs. Marian S. Temple, 2801 Southwest Boulevard.

The rear bumper on the Pontiac was damaged and the front end of the Oldsmobile was damaged. Both cars were driveable.

Minor damages resulted to two vehicles in an accident on the lot of Garst's Drive-In about 8:09 p.m. Sunday. No injuries were reported.

According to the police report, a 1967 Pontiac driven by Larry A. Zimmerman, Blue Springs, had stopped at the exit from the lot and a 1963 sedan driven by Martin W. Monteer, 522 East Boonville, struck the rear of the Zimmerman car.

The rear bumper on the Zimmerman car was damaged and the front end of the Monteer car bumper damaged. Both cars were driven from the scene.

Lee A. Groshans, 16, 701 West 32nd Street, reported to the police at 1:30 a.m. that he was driving northeast on the Clinton Road in a 1955 Ford sedan when he was forced off the road.

Groshans reported an approaching car appeared to be headed for him and he pulled off to the right and was almost completely in the ditch when the other vehicle struck his car.

He reported his car was knocked back onto the road, but the other vehicle kept going.

The right front fender and the entire left side of the Ford was damaged. Groshans car also struck a mail box of the Fischer Concrete Service.

Groshans complained of an arm injury.

Sedalia Police received a crime alert call at 2:43 a.m. Saturday from a woman who told them that someone was trying to break into Cecil's TV, Seventh and Ohio.

Upon arrival, officers took three subjects into custody. After taking them to the police station, one of the youths, Gregory S. Farrell, was charged with burglary and stealing in connection with an incident at Welch's Market last Wednesday night in which several cartons of cigarettes were taken.

Farrell was turned over to the Sheriff's office and later released on $2,500 bond.

The other youths, both juveniles, were turned over to the juvenile officer.

Thomas Acker, Tipton, was taken into custody by Sedalia Police Saturday afternoon after selling a watch, which he allegedly stole in Tipton, to a local pawn shop.

Acker is being held in the city jail and is to be turned over to the Moniteau County Sheriff's department for prosecution.

Rusk

one block has been "a series of no's from Hanoi."

He then listed a number of U.S. efforts he said have failed because of rejection by the North Vietnamese, including proposals to reconvene the Geneva conference that divided Vietnam in 1954, plans for an all-Asian peace conference, and proposals to put international forces between the combatants and provide for withdrawal of all foreign forces from Vietnam.

In response to questions from Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., No. 2 man on the committee and a backer of administration policies, Rusk said, "What is involved in South Vietnam is not just South Vietnam itself, Southeast Asia is involved."

He said North Vietnamese are operating in Laos, and North Vietnamese-trained guerrillas are in Thailand and there are what he called outsiders in Cambodia.

A threat to other countries "is not a theory, it is a fact," Rusk said. "We need to be clear about the face of the enemy."

"I am deeply disturbed about what would happen to the people of the world if the fidelity of the United States to all our treaties should be questioned," Rusk said. Such a development, he continued, would open the possibility that other nations "might make a major miscalculation and take a giant step down the road to war."

Sparkman challenged the view of Fulbright and several other committee members that a recent investigation had cast doubt on the accuracy of administration accounts of the 1964 Tonkin Gulf incident, which marked a major turning point in the war.

Sparkman said he believes "there is ample evidence those two ships were attacked."

The incident involved U.S. destroyers and North Vietnamese torpedo boats.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, ranking Republican on the committee, agreed with Sparkman.

Fulbright held in his opening statement that what he called discrepancies included the Tonkin Gulf report on the basis of which Congress approved a resolution backing Johnson in any steps he took to deter aggression.

"Congress believed at the time that it was acting not to authorize a war, but to prevent one," Fulbright said. "In addition, it has recently become clear that much of the information on which Congress acted in adopting the Tonkin resolution was inaccurate."

He added that "the great discrepancy of all is the discrepancy between present policies and the traditional values of America."

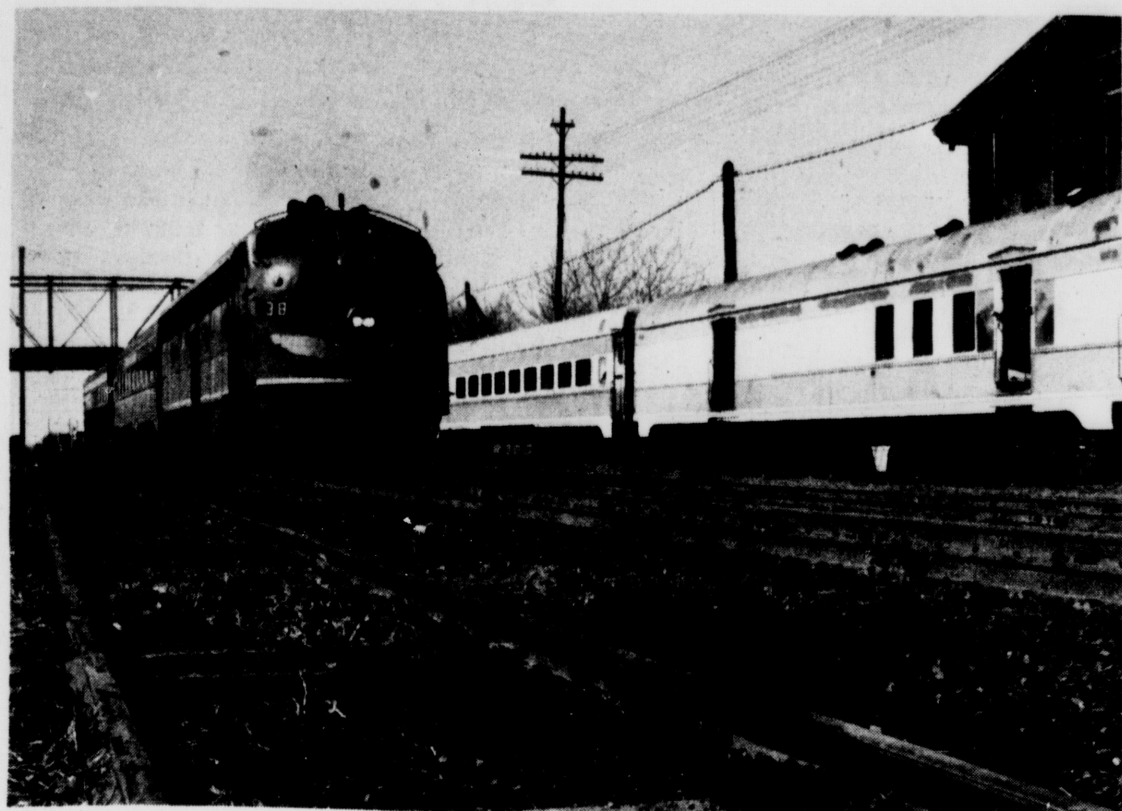

"With our country beset by crises of poverty and race, as we wait and arm ourselves for the annual summer violence in our cities, with our allies alienated and our people divided by the most unpopular war in our history, the light of the American example burns dim around the world," Fulbright said.

Rusk told the committee in asking support for the foreign aid bill that "some say we should postpone or eliminate foreign aid because of the cost of our efforts to help defend freedom in Southeast Asia."

But, he continued, "the freedom and progress of hundreds of millions of other Asians, the 250 million people in Latin America and the 250 million people in Africa also engage our concern and are directly related to our own security and wellbeing."

"The United States has much urgent business but I believe that foreign aid must be an urgent item on our agenda."

He told the committee that the $1 billion cut from last year's foreign aid budget brought it below the minimum level needed to sustain the momentum of development programs.

End of the Line

If old railroad cars have spirits, as railroad men contend, those waiting to be demolished under the Washington Avenue bridge perhaps have a twinge of envy as other Missouri Pacific trains speed by. The old cars, purchased by McCown Brothers Salvage, are destined for the scrap iron pile. The old cars, often the victims of vandals, sit on McCown's siding awaiting an undignified end. Weed Control in Soybeans
Soybeans have become a major cash crop and will continue as such because the demand continues to be great in this versatile product. However, soybeans are a poor competitor with weeds so their control becomes a continuing problem.

The 1967 growing season was quite unfavorable for soybeans in various respects, primarily because of unusually wet conditions during the month of June. Farmers who had their beans planted before it started to rain and who had used a preemergent to control weeds were fortunate except, of course, for those who were flooded out. Farmers who planted early soybeans without a preemergent herbicide could not control the weeds because it was too wet to cultivate. Farmers who planted late, after the rains subsided, were hit by early fall frost.

The herbicides recommended for use on soybeans in 1968 include Amiben, Randox, Ramrod, and Sodium PCP as surface applied preemergents; Treflan and lanavin as soil incorporated preplant applications and 2,4-DB as a late post-emergent application to control morning glory and cocklebur. The 2,4-DB application is considered a salvage operation if morning glory or cocklebur threaten to take the crop. It should be emphasized that Ramrod as a surface application has label clearance for soybeans grown for seed only.

There are a number of herbicides that are included in what we call an experimental section. This means we feel these herbicides show great promise but are not quite ready for full recommendation. We suggest they be used on limited acreage if a grower is interested. These so-called "promising" herbicides include Vernam, Decthal, Lorox, Alanap Plus, and Tenoran, which is a new post-emergent. Of these materials, Vernam and Dacthal should be soil incorporated while Lorox and Alanap Plus are surface applied. Rates and other application information are included in the MU Guides. There are available at your University Extension Center.

Knifed between last year's corn rows before discing stalks or plowing this spring. Up to 100 pounds per acre may be applied in 40-inch spacing. You may start to plow immediately. Stalks will probably give less trouble if not disked before applicator knife splits the middles.

Oats for Nurse Crop
Farmers planning spring-sown alfalfa or alfalfa-grass mixtures are asking what conditions they might sow oats as a nurse crop.

Steep slopes that would likely have considerable soil washing will benefit from having oats used as a nurse crop.

The oats should be grazed off to give a better chance to the young seedlings. If hay is needed badly the oats can be cut for hay, but should be cut early, not later than the early milk stage.

Remember that the oats will be holding back growth of the grass and legume seedlings, even though this effect may be balanced off some by the fact that they also hold back early weed growth.

Herbicides Recommended

The recommendations for herbicides to be used on corn in 1968 are quite similar to those for 1967. However, two methods of atrazine application have been moved from the experimental section to recommended practices. The first change involves a pre-plant or pre-emergence soil incorporation of atrazine. Incorporating atrazine in the soil reduces the risk of activation by rainfall following application. However, overall weed control may not be quite as effective as a surface application followed by a favorable rainfall pattern. Atrazine incorporation should not precede corn planting by many days as it may reduce the effectiveness of the herbicide. The other application method added to the recommended list involves a post-emergence application of atrazine in an oil-water carrier. The recommendation states that from 1 1/2 to 2 gallons non-phytotoxic oil should be used with water to make up a 20-gallon volume per acre. Two pounds of atrazine is the recommended rate for the herbicide. Application should be made while weeds are not more than 1 1/2 inches in height. The addition of an emulsifier to the oil-water carrier increases the effectiveness of the application.

The other change is not a new recommendation but a change in FDA limitations involving the use of Ramrod on corn. Ramrod now has label clearance so that corn treated with this herbicide can be used for silage or can be grazed by livestock following harvest. These are the major changes in the 1968 recommendations for herbicide use on corn. The 1968 MU Guides involving herbicide recommendations from corn will soon be available. A Boy Who Won't Be Back

By PAUL JONES

A boy died for me in Khe Sanh today. I didn't know him, and he didn't know me.

But he died for me just the same.

I learned about it when the 6 o'clock newscast showed him being carried off the battlefield by his buddies.

He was going home at last—but not the way he had dreamed of going.

I watched the newscast as I ate a good, hot meal in my safe, comfortable home.

The news was pretty much as usual. The war in Vietnam... college kids demonstrating against changes in the draft rules, screaming and mugging for the camera... more teachers out on strike.

After dinner I tuned in to a program on which a comic wisecracked sourly about the way the war was going—and probably got more money for doing it than this boy in Khe Sanh had been paid all the time he was in service.

Then I went to bed, free from any fear that the house might be blown up by the enemy. The enemy is busy over in Vietnam.

But I couldn't get this boy off my mind. I wondered if he had been frightened. Of course, he had. Who wouldn't be?

Had he hated this war as much as I hate it?

Probably more. He was IN it!

But, somehow, those boys in the thick of it over there seem to understand more clearly than many of us just why they are there, and the dreadful alternative if they weren't.

How had he felt about these characters who are defying the government, calling our leaders murderers, tearing up draft cards and pulling down the American flag?

However he had felt, he had fought for that flag until he was killed.

It's too late now, of course, to try to thank this boy for what he did. But it's not too late to thank his buddies for what they're doing.

But how do you thank someone for facing death for you?

How do you reassure him that as long as men like him are willing to die for freedom, freedom is worth dying for—even though it be abundantly used and abused by the very ones who disdain to fight for it?

So you hope that the boys over there realize that dissent is loud and gets attention, but that gratitude is quiet and doesn't make the headlines.

You hope they know that millions upon millions of Americans are with them all the way.

I hope and pray that boy knew it as he died for me in Khe Sanh today.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

LBJ Cool to Commission Report

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It's ironic that the President, who has done more for race relations than any president since Abraham Lincoln, is not enthusiastic over the penetrating report of his own commission on race relations.

Having picked a blue ribbon panel of ten dedicated men and one woman, who spent seven months studying last summer's race riots, President Johnson let a whole week go by before giving a guarded comment on their report. Meanwhile, his Vice President had differed with it, his Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Robert Weaver, a Negro, who should have been delighted with it, said its housing goal was "highly improbable," and newsmen who take their cues from the White House were blasting it as likely to increase race riots.

Reason for this dousing of lukewarm water over the most courageous government report in the last decade was the war in Vietnam plus Congress. Money cannot go to the Vietnam war and the race war at the same time.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas tax czar who reigns supreme over the Ways and Means Committee, has given the President an ultimatum—in which the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition has joined like a Roman phalanx—that there will be no tax increase until domestic spending is drastically cut.

Completely ignoring this, the President was a little startled when his own carefully selected commission on racial disorder came out with a dire warning that we will live to spend about as much at home as we are in Vietnam or else experience guerrilla fighting here as well as in Saigon, and end up another South Africa, divided, separate and unequal.

—Sen. Brooke—Absentee—

Furthermore, the makeup of the commission makes the warning impossible to ignore. It ranges from the Democratic Governor of Illinois, Otto Kerner, to the liberal Republican Mayor of New York, John Lindsay, to a southern police chief, Herbert Jenkins of Atlanta.

The report was unanimous. However, the three above mentioned members were among the strongest forthright no-holds-barred in warning the nation. Police Chief Jenkins of Atlanta was just as vigorous as the mayor of the nation's biggest city. So was Sen. Fred Harris, a moderate Democrat for Oklahoma, a southwest state with a big Negro population.

Significantly, the commission member who paid least attention to the deliberations, and had an inexcusable attendance record, was the first Negro to be elected to the Senate in 100 years — Edward Brooke, the Massachusetts Republican. He concurred with the findings, but was not around much to draft them.

Another who had a spotty attendance record was I. W. Abel, President of the United Steel Workers, but he was also a delegate to the United Nations in New York, and had a hard time attending both. He was somewhat conservative about the report, due no doubt to the Slav and Italian steelworkers in Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Gary, who are anti-Negro. However, he went along with the report.

The only real holdout—though he also signed—was Charles B. Thornton, an old Texas friend of LBJ's. It was significant that the first cold water poured on the report came from another Texan, the President's good friend, Rep. George Mahon, of Lubbock, Tex., who also is worried about cutting domestic spending in order to meet Wilbur Mills' ultimatum and get a tax increase.

Thornton, as head of the far-flung Litton Industries, had a somewhat embarrassing conflict between money for war and money for big cities. He is chairman of an industrial complex which includes Aero Service, Airtron Inc., Clifton Precision, Ingalls Shipbuilding, Kester Solder Co., Kimball Systems, Litton Precision Products, Monroe Calculating Machine, and Proflexray.

He even has a contract with the military dictatorship of Greece to bring industry to Greece on a 10 per cent commission basis.

Litton's industrial complex drew down $180,100,000 from the taxpayers in defense contracts during fiscal 1967, plus another $18,396,000 in research grants.

Although voicing objections during the commission sessions, Thornton finally went along with its vigorous warning to the nation. Since publication, however, he's been talking to friends privately, including his friend LBJ.

—Gradual Legislative Doses—

The position of the President is that you can't push Congress too hard and too suddenly. He's having enough trouble with his present program.

"If you're going to drink whiskey," he says, "drink a little at a time and you can drink all night. If you drink the whole bottle right away you'll throw it up."

It's the same way with Congress, says the President, who served there a quarter of a century. "You've got to feed them legislation in easy doses."

In Russia They're Nuts

Russian intellectuals, particularly the young who write poetry, short stories and novels which express ideas contrary to the Soviet regime are called "Invalids of the Second Category." They are rounded up whenever possible and placed in mental institutions. Even Stalin's daughter is considered in this category but she managed to escape.

"It is inevitable," said Marvin Kalb, a diplomatic correspondent who spent several years in Russia, "that because young Russians have been taught to read and consequently to think, that they will express their opinions in writing and other ways. They have discovered that the constitution under dictator Stalin was a liberal one, with very special freedoms, which have never been allowed to be exercised, said Mr. Kalb. When the thinking young people write about these freedoms they are considered 'nutty' and their work is not published," he continued.

But the grapevine is at work. Manuscripts are smuggled to western Europe and even to the United States. The writing is often camouflaged in another language and the work gets published even though the author may be relegated to a mental institution. "No matter," said correspondent Kalb, "how many of these young writers in the Soviet Union are isolated and punished, the government is not going to succeed in suppressing them."

What a contrast our young American writers have. Their material is published; they are not isolated or punished or even called "nutty." They live under a constitution which permits them to disagree with the government in writing and in other types of protest. In this country they are even read. It is better so.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Modest Witness

Scene: a court of law.
Situation: a man is on trial for making an obscene telephone call to a young woman.
Problem: must the young woman, when she takes the witness stand, repeat—word for word—what she was told on the telephone?

It can be embarrassing indeed. As one judge put it, she might have to say words "that any refined girl would blush to repeat to her most intimate friends."

Yet, the problem of modesty cannot be avoided if justice is to be done. In a case of criminal assault, the woman may be asked to describe what happened. In a case of accidental injury, a woman may be asked to reveal a part of her body not ordinarily exposed to public view.

Generally speaking, the law tries to respect a woman's modesty—not as a matter of gallantry but as a matter of encouraging women to take the witness stand in the first place.

They will "testify with less reluctance," a court noted, "if relieved from the inhibitions imposed by the presence of a curiosity impelled audience."

How can the modest witness be protected? The most common method is to clear the courtroom while she is giving the embarrassing testimony. Another method, in case of bodily injury, is to have a doctor testify to the details—if necessary, with the aid of photographs.

A third possibility, when obscene language is involved, is to let the woman write the words down instead of speaking them out loud. Unhappily, none of these methods is a perfect solution to the modesty problem. Clearing the courtroom raises questions of whether the accused person is getting the "public trial" guaranteed to him by the Constitution. Testimony by a doctor is useful in only a limited class of cases.

As for writing words down, that reduces the jury's ability to discern whether or not the witness is telling the truth.

Because of these conflicting considerations, the law has usually avoided laying down any hard-and-fast rules. Instead, the trial judge is given broad discretion. After all, he is in the best position to decide which procedure, under the particular circumstances, makes the most sense.

Oswald: "While match point duplicate is not exactly the same game as rubber bridge, there is no question that you can learn a lot about rubber bridge by playing duplicate."

Jim: "Of course. When you make mistakes at rubber bridge, you laugh them off if you happen to be winning and complain about bad luck if you happen to be losing. In duplicate, your mistakes show up as bad scores and you try to avoid them in the future."

Oswald: "One thing any bridge player should learn is that the takeout double with a balanced hand is likely to be a losing proposition. Our recommendation for duplicate or rubber bridge is that you make a takeout double with 4-3-3-3 distribution only if your hand is very powerful, while you can make a takeout double with a singleton in your opponent's bid suit with as little as 10 or 11 high card points."

Jim: "At most tables in the recent Dallas Regional tournament, West was allowed to play at one spade. He always made his contract. In fact, a couple of West players managed to make an overtrick, but the top East-West scores came when North chose to double for takeout and South played in two hearts."

Oswald: "Most South players went down two tricks. One managed to go down three. West opened his singleton diamond. South played dummy's queen. East won the king and led a spade. West cashed his jack and ace of spades and gave East a ruff. East led back the jack of diamonds and West discarded a spade instead of ruffing. South had to go after the club suit eventually and misguessed the jack to wind up losing two spades, the ace of trumps, a spade ruff, two diamonds and two clubs."

Jim: "Actually, once the diamond was opened, it didn't make any real difference what South did. He would be down two or three tricks in any event."

Governor Favors
Bi-Partisan Remap

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — Although the U. S. Supreme Court temporarily has relieved the Missouri Legislature from the burden of congressional reapportionment, the task will arise again in the future — if not next year, then in 1970 when the new census figures are available.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said last week that he would favor the establishment of a bi-partisan redistricting commission to draw congressional districts.

Gov. Hearnes initiated the use of a bi-partisan commission to draw state legislative districts in 1965 and he feels that the same type of a commission could be employed for congressional districts.

House Speaker James Godfrey (D-St. Louis) and Rep. Fred Copeland (D-New Madrid) introduced a House resolution in this special session to establish a 20-member commission which in the future would draw congressional districts, but no action has been taken on the proposal.

LEGISLATURE PASSES
ADC FATHERS MEASURE

The House has passed and sent to the governor a bill which would allow fathers of children receiving welfare benefits under "aid to dependent children" laws to remain in the home while such payments are being made.

The program will cost the state an additional $1.2 million for payments of $33 a month to unemployed fathers who are living in the home, and $500,000 to establish training programs which the fathers may attend to prepare for re-employment.

Rigid requirements aimed at employing the father or training him for re-employment must be met before he is eligible for payments under the bill.

These include the following:

(1) The father must be physically present in Missouri, living in the home with the child or children, actively seeking employment, and complying with requirements of the State Division of Welfare.

(2) He must have been unemployed at least 30 days prior to receiving the benefits under the bill.

(3) He must have exhausted all unemployment compensation benefits to which he was or would have been entitled — that is, he must have had a "substantial connection with the labor force for six quarters of the last three and one-quarter years, ending with the last year before application for ADC payments."

(4) He must not have refused, without good cause, any available employment for which he is qualified, or any vocational rehabilitation, education, training, work incentive or special work projects offered to him, and he must be the natural or adoptive father or step-father of the child or children and be married to the mother.

PSC TO HEAR DEBATE ON POWER COMPANY DISPUTE

The Missouri Public Service Commission may decide in the near future whether a federal power commission can supply power to a municipality through a private company and replace service by a private corporation.

If the green light is given to the Progressive Industries, Inc., in Nixa, Mo., other municipalities in Missouri may begin looking for a cheaper source of electricity than they now are getting from private, self-supplied companies.

Nixa is under contract with the Empire District Electric Company for its present municipal power supply.

Progressive Industries, however, is seeking to replace Empire as the supplier to Nixa. Progressive has arranged to hook up with the Southwest Power Assn., a federal power company similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Through the federal source, Progressive would be able to furnish a power supply at cheaper rates than can the privately-owned Empire company.

The PSC has drafted an injunction order to suspend operations by Progressive so that it may determine whether a private power company, supplied by a federal source, is within its jurisdiction.

Hearings will be held in Jefferson City to determine the jurisdictional question.

Ceremony of the Bills

By CYRENE DEAR

WASHINGTON, D.C. — When President Johnson signs a bill approved by the Congress it is a ceremony. The East Room is crowded by sponsors of the bill, their friends and others wearing the proper admissions card. The press is roped off and often has to dodge the television paraphernalia. There is a small desk in front of a blue drape and a chair for the President to sit on. On the desk is a carton of pens to use in signing the bill. Handsome military aides stand on both sides of the blue drape and the nation's and presidential flags make the room look official. Full length portraits of Martha and George Washington add a historic touch.

The audience and the press wait and wait. Finally the band in the entrance hall strikes up. "Hail to the Chief." Everyone rises, except the press which has been standing quite a long time.

During the recent bill signing of the Fire Research and Safety Act the President called it the first consumer bill passed at this session of Congress. He said fires are the nation's "third largest cause of accidental death" and that more than 12 million lives were lost by fires in 1966. He also cited $2 billion in property loss in one year due to flames.

The bill he signed into law will launch new studies into the causes of fires and will expand fire prevention and control programs, including public education to avoid hazards.

Betty Furness, Special Assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, was in the audience, seated beside Alexander Trowbridge, the retiring Secretary of Commerce. Both fought hard for the Fire Research bill and both received pens. The President told Betty Furness to wake up Americans to get their support for consumer legislation. He listed as priority bills: truth in lending, pipeline safety, poultry and fish inspection measures.

There were a few pens left so he facetiously handed one to Lady Bird. She must have quite a collection because she is nearly always present at the signing.

BPWC Holds Anniversary Celebration

The 45th anniversary dinner of the Business and Professional Women's Club held Thursday evening, March 7, at Bothwell Hotel, proved to be a real birthday party with birthday cake, candles, flowers, gifts, and an interesting speaker, Miss Kathryn Kelly, Ellsville.

Miss Kelly, state membership chairman of the Missouri Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club, was introduced by Mrs. Florence Elliott, membership chairman of the local club, who opened the meeting with the group singing the "Happy Birthday Song."

The National Federation of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs was organized in St. Louis in 1919 at a meeting attended by 212 women and was incorporated in 1921. It is only fitting, Miss Kelly said, that the 50th anniversary will be held in St. Louis in 1969, and the theme song will of course be: "Meet Me in St. Louis."

In 1928 National Business Women's Week was first observed and in 1930 the International organization was formed in Geneva, Switzerland.

Miss Kelly stressed the need of sharing BPWC with other working women who have never been asked to join. She questioned that the members realized what the federation has done for the working women.

The Sedalia Club was organized in 1923. The leaders of the club should encourage all members to be active, for they must serve all members not just a selected few. The chairmen must learn to delegate the work of her committee to the members. There is a lot of advantages to sharing in a club. It is leadership training and keeps the whole club active.

The program, Miss Kelly explained, is the product to sell, education, social, economics, and this is the bridge to the future. The program is the planned activity, it is an important obligation of leaders.

Membership, she went on to say, is a very personal thing, person to person, with one good member telling a prospective member about the club. Don't bother for the sake of numbers, Miss Kelly urged, but for members who will want to participate in the activities of the club. New members are assigned to committees. Tell the BPWC story, she said, and make someone glad you asked them.

Miss Erna Ann McClure, president, presided over the meeting, and stated that there are three charter members still belonging to the club. One of them, Mrs. Freida Nelson, was present. Mrs. Nelson attended the first International meeting held in Switzerland. The other charter members are Mrs. Florence Middleton, who was unable to attend, and Miss Cecile Tillbery, who now resides in Chicago.

Introduced were the state officers and other dignitaries seated at the head table, Mrs. Marjorie Garansson, state president; Mrs. Vivian Warren, editor of Missouri Business Woman; Mrs. Mary Kay Hunter, state corresponding secretary; Mrs. Louise Lightner, district director of No. 8, North and national contact chairman for the 50th anniversary to be held in St. Louis in 1969.

Miss Hazel Palmer, a past president of the National Federation, was introduced and commented that she would never have gone on to the national level if it had not been for Frieda Nelson who talked her into it. Mrs. Bertha Welch stated that it was also Mrs. Nelson who encouraged her to become president of the local club the

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My wife works in an office and I work in a plant. We used to take the same bus to and from town and it worked out fine.

A few months ago Wilma's boss decided to stagger the quitting time so there wouldn't be a crush at 5:00, and now she takes an earlier bus. She is always home when I get there. Last night I left work 20 minutes early because I had a backache. When the bus stopped at Wilma's corner she boarded with a good looking, well-built guy. They seemed to be having a great time, laughing and joking. When Wilma saw me she got red in the face and introduced me. I recognized the plaid shirt he was wearing because I had ironed it.

Wilma has been bringing home this fellow's shirts for months — said they belonged to some orphan kid she wanted to help out. Wilma does all the washing in the family and I do the ironing because I was a presser in the Navy.

When we got home I got mad and told her I wasn't ironing any more of the "orphan's" shirts. She called me a jealous fool and acted highly insulted. What do you make of this? — MANNY year Miss Palmer was national president.

Dear Manny: Just when I think I've heard everything I get a letter like yours. This is indeed a new wrinkle — one that Wilma ought to iron out.

Invocation was given by Mrs. Genelle Streit, chaplain.

Mrs. Geraldine Schrader, music director at Smith-Cotton High School, was introduced by Mrs. Elliott, and presented a double male quartet from the music department, which sang "Little Trumpets Blow," and "Rolling Down to Jordan."

Guests were introduced by Miss Freda Mueller as follows: Mrs. Linda Witzengruter, guest of Mrs. Ruth Woolery; Mrs. Karl Gonsler, guest of Mrs. Ola Hayden; Mrs. Mildred Bohling, guest of Mrs. Madeline Burke and Mrs. Geraldine Schrader, guest of Mrs. Kathryn Rosenkrans.

Miss McClure presented the gold membership card to Mrs. Elliott, who has brought in five new members during the past year. Miss McClure stated that Mrs. Vivian Warren also has a gold card which she was presented earlier in the year for five new members, and that is her fourth gold card.

The state convention will be held in Kansas City May 3, 4 and 5 Miss McClure said, and Miss Erna Fajen is convention chairman. She also told of the bakeless bake sale which is another project offered for making money by Mrs. Irene Dirck, special projects chairman.

The life insurance kits could be secured from Miss Opal O'Brian.

Miss Helen Giokaris received the beautiful birthday cake, and all attending the meeting found gifts at their places, one particularly different one being a large gold egg that help a pin cushion, thimble and tape measure. There were a number of other nice gifts from Sedalia industries and business firms.

The head table was centered with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and pink carnations, with other arrangements in the same colors at either end. Lighted yellow candles were at intervals along all of the tables.

She sounds like a big-hearted girl, but I think in the interest of peace and tranquility the "orphan" should consider drip-dry shirts or carry his laundry to a commercial place.

Dear Ann Landers: A member of our family must take several pills before and after meals. This man is educated and refined. He insists that other members of the family adhere strictly to certain rules of etiquette, yet he brings his medicine to the table, lines up the bottles and makes a production of popping the pills into his mouth and swallowing several gulps of water to "wash things down."

Don't you feel that taking medicine is a personal matter and should be done in private? Why would a person want an audience? May we hear from you? — BELOW THE SALT

Dear B: A person who has to bring his medicine to the table and doctor himself in full view of the family is obviously desperate for attention. I feel sorry for him. And you should, too.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 15 years old and play the violin well. I practice six hours a day.

My Numero Uno also plays the violin well. He is two chairs ahead of me in the school orchestra. The problem is the girl who sits next to him. She doesn't practice nearly as much as I but she is a better violinist. I just burn when I see them sitting side by side — him turning the pages for her.

The music contest tryouts start soon. If I get an excellent and she gets a superior, I will die. Please tell me what to do. I'm cracking up. — MISS NERVOUS WRECK

Dear Miss: If you practice six hours a day you are working as hard as you can — or should. If the doll next to Numero Uno is a better violinist, and doesn't practice nearly as much as you, she is undoubtedly gifted — and you can't beat that.

Do your best, honey, then forget it. Angels can do no more.

Tuck Files For Western District

The Democrats have a candidate for Judge of the Western District in the filing of the name of Lt. Col. Sam Tuck, of Houstonia. Col Tuck's name was filed by Bob Sevier of Houstonia.

Col. Tuck, who is stationed at the Whiteman Air Force Base, is due to retire the latter part of July. Friends had approached Col Tuck to run for office, but by virtue of being in the military service he was unable to do so.

However, his friends learned that in spite of his position and he could not either file or campaign, they decided to file him and do his campaigning for him.

Col Tuck is well known in the district, having been born and reared in the Houstonia community and has been active in affairs of that community.

When in the Houstonia high school, Tuck will be

Defense of Investments Against Savings Option

By ED MORSE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "They've warned the stock market speculators," the broker said, "but who has warned the savers?" Then he told a Wall Street parable.

Grandpa Jones, it seems, saved $1,000 in 1933—a tough depression year—and it buys $380 worth at today's prices. Had he put the money in a typical New York savings bank from Jan. 1, 1934 to Jan. 1, 1968 at compound interest he would have $2,481. But even this would buy only $934 compared with what $1,000 bought in 1933.

Grandpa Smith, on the other hand, put $1,000 into the stock market over the same period, buying and selling completely at random. "Careless" Smith, they called him. By Jan. 1, 1968 his money grew to $10,850—and that would buy $4,123 worth at 1933 prices.

The figures on Smith's results — buying and selling just any stocks on the New York Stock Exchange — are based on a computerized study by the University of Chicago of stock action from 1926 through 1960, updated through 1967 by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc., which sponsored the study.

The growth of $1,000 at compound interest seems low today when savings banks pay 5 per cent. Over most of the 34-year period, however, interest rates were much lower, ranging upwards of 1½ per cent. At current 5 per cent rates it would take $1,000 only 14 years to double. But nobody knows whether 5 per cent rates will continue for 14 years. And nobody knows what $1,000 invested in stocks would be in 14 years.

Birthday Is 65th For Welk

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ready? uh-one, uh-two—"happy birthday, Lawrence Welk, happy birthday to you!"

The bubble merchant is marking his 65th birthday today, and the milestone finds him in fine fettle. So fine is his fettle, in fact, that he thinks nothing of playing 36 holes of golf—"and I usually have my best score on the last nine."

Such prowess, he believes, stems from his boyhood. "I did a lot of walking behind a plow, I really did. I built up strong legs, and they have helped me throughout my life. That's how I've been able to stand up in front of a band all these years. That's also why I'm still able to dance the polka and the waltz."

Far from retiring, Dakota-born Welk continues his busy schedule of recording, appearing on ABC television weekly and at the Hollywood Palladium on Saturday nights. He claims the work is not as strenuous as it seems.

"I have a very efficient staff working for me," he explained. "When I come in on Tuesday to work on the television show, most of the preparation has already been done. I spend the whole day at the studio, and we tape the show that night. I used to spend much more time in preparing, but the shows have been better since I let others do the work."

He reported happily that the ratings have been holding firm, and he noted: "Our audience seems to be getting younger. I notice that especially when we play at state fairs. I think it's because we have been playing more and more new songs on the show."

The Welk organization now travels only six weeks a year, including three weeks at Lake Tahoe, which constitutes a vacation for the members. Lawrence, who had seen plenty of traveling in his 44 years as a band leader, is happy to spend more time at home. He and Mrs. Welk often steal away for a few days at their trailer home near Escondido, 100 miles south, where he also owns a new resort.

The slower pace seems to have done wonders for his health.

He's celebrating his 65th at home with his family, including two children, their mates and five grandchildren. A daughter, married to an Army doctor, and another grandchild won't be able to make the party.

Will he ever retire? "Perhaps some day," he said. "But if I do, I want to leave the organization so well prepared that they can carry on without me. I wouldn't want to put 200 people out of work."

KC Raiders Are Winners Of Local Lions Tourney

Winter Is Voted Coach of the Year

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Tex Winter, whose name is synonymous with Kansas State basketball success the past 20 years, was voted the Big Eight's 1968 Coach of the Year for leading his club to the championship despite mid-season personnel losses.

This could have been the finest coaching job in the career of the personable 45-year-old Californian. He admits no title was more satisfying than this one—his eighth in 15 seasons as K-State head coach. Kansas was the pre-season title favorite.

Winter drew 34 votes in the annual Associated Press poll. Glen Anderson of Iowa State was second with 20, Johnny MacLeod of Oklahoma had 6, Joe Cipriano of Nebraska 5 and Norm Stewart of Missouri 3.

All four coaches exceeded pre season expectations.

K-State clinched an undisputed crown by edging Oklahoma State 49-47 Saturday night in Manhattan. The Wildcats already had wrapped up an NCAA berth by beating Kansas twice. Kansas had to settle for second place and a trip to the NIT in New York.

At the mid-semester break, K-State was 10-6 when Louie Small, a 203-point scorer, and Wheeler Hughes, their seventh man, didn't make their grades. Instead of folding, Winter's club went 9-1 down the stretch, winning five cliff-hangers, the big one 64-61 in overtime at Kansas.

Winter made maximum use of his big men by switching to a tough zone defense. Nick Pino, 7-foot-1 senior, played the best basketball of his career. When the Nebraska press wrecked his club at Lincoln, Winter put sophomore Jeff Webb, a fine ball handler, in the backline.

Senior Ray Willis took over when Webb felt the pressure against OSU.

Winter has made a habit of getting maximum mileage from his reserves. He consistently adapts his system to his personnel and wins.

He came to K-State in the fall of 1947 at 25, a graduate of Southern Cal, to assist Jack Gardner. In 19 seasons in the old Big Six, K-State didn't win a title and had only three winning seasons. In 1948, the first year of the Big Seven, K-State won its first basketball crown since 1919.

K-State won three titles in Winter's four years as assistant. U.S. titles but two were in the hands of the natives today. After Rick Chaffee of Rutland, Vt., and Judy Nagle of Enumclaw, Wash., won Sunday's slalom competition to wind up the 1968 National Alpine Ski Championships.

The exceptions were the men's downhill and combined crowns, which went to Scott Henderson, 34-year-old Canadian star from Banff, Alta.

Most of the ski riders who competed in the three-day event on Crystal Mountain, 76 miles southeast of Seattle, left immediately for Aspen, Colo. to compete in the Roche Cup Races.

Winning both slalom and combined championships for the feminine side of the snow scramble, 16-year-old Miss Nagle typifies the youth movement taking command in U.S. Alpine skiing.

Ann Black, 18, of Seattle won the women's downhill on opening day and Marilyn Cochran of Richmond, Vt., also 18, took Saturday's giant slalom.

Chaffee's victory made it two straight for the Denver University graduate who had triumphed the day before in the giant slalom. "I love this country," said the 23-year-old Vermont whose dismal 49th in the downhill kept him from winning the combined title along with his others.

Henderson had scored second in the giant slalom and was fourth in the slalom behind Jere Elliott of Steamboat Springs, Colo., and defending champion Jim Huega of Tahoe City, Calif.

The Kansas City Raiders, Saturday night, won the 18th Annual Sedalia Lions Club Invitational Basketball Tournament when they defeated the Yagers Raiders, of Kansas City, in the championship game, 114 to 99. It was the third time the two teams have met in this basketball season and going in to the finals of the local tournament, each team had beaten the other. It was what they "tabbed" as the "rubber game" for them this season.

Trailing at the end of the first half 44-56, the Yagers Raiders were unable to break through and catch their fellow townsmen, the Kansas City Raiders. Yagers were consistent in their scoring chalking up 22 points in the first second and third quarters, while the K. C. Raiders were off to a 23 point rally in the first 33 rally in the second and 27 in the third, but let down in the final stanza hitting 31 while Yagers picked up a 33 point quarter.

During the game the Yagers Raiders used 11 of their roster while the K. C. Raiders called on the services of nine of their players.

High point man of the game was Tylicki of the K. C. Raiders who hit for 13 baskets and five free throws for a total 31 points, followed by teammate Yeager who collected nine goals and 10 free throws for 28 points. On the other side of the ledger Shelton and Parker tied for scoring honors for Yagers when each had a 9-5 night for 23 points.

Individual scoring for the Yagers team was: Matuzak 3-1-7; Hay 6-2-14; Woodworth 5-1-11; Holloway 1-0-2; Shelton 9-5-23; Becker 2-1-5; Moroso 2-2-6; Loonue 0-0-0; Parker 9-5-23; Williams 3-2-8; and Hare 0-0-0; Total 40-19-99. For the K.C. Raiders it was: Weber 0-2-2; Yeager 9-10-28; Wolfe 1-0-2; Finforck 6-6-18; Hartwig 0-0-0; Tylicki 13-5-31; Bailey 5-6-16; Brown 5-3-13; Cahill 1-2-4; Totals 40-34-114.

The Championship game was concluded after press time Saturday night.

Third place in the tournament was won by the Rolla quintet which defeated Marshall Nightwines Body shop 100 to 82.

Mr. Right Won't Be Forgotten

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Many wedding presents are stored away and forgotten, but Mrs. Peter Duchin has one that moves around and makes headlines.

The present is Mr. Right, and last Saturday he got big print by moving 1 1/4 miles to win the Santa Anita Handicap and top money of $100,000.

Mr. Right was presented to Mrs. Duchin by breeder George Zuaderer when she married the New York society musician.

And the 5-year-old struck some mighty happy notes for Mrs. Duchin in 1966 and last year by winning four stakes, but Saturday was his biggest beat.

It also was sweet music to his backers, who got a mutual return of $41.80, $22.60 and $14.

Miguel Yanez sent Mr. Right to the front as the field of 15 turned for home in the $145,000 race, and he drove to a two-length victory over another longshot, Jungle Road, who overtook third-place Ala Ram.

Favored Tobin Bronze was never a factor, finishing ninth, 11 lengths behind the winner.

The time was 2:04 3/5, second slowest in the 31-year history of the race, but the track was officially called slow. The slowest time was 2:05 2/5 by Thumbs Up in 1945. Bobby Brocato also won in 2:04 3/5 in 1956.

In Saturday's other big race, Herbert Allen's Favorable Turn scored by 1 1/2 lengths over Rixdal, with Bold Hour third, in the $65,500 Donn Handicap at Gulfstream Park.

Favorable Turn, with Eddie Belmonte up, stepped the 1 1/2 miles in 1:48 1/5.

Wins World Title

Richard Widmark, 31, a building contractor from Park Ridge, Ill., sails over 16 barrels to win the 1968 World Barrel-Jumping Championship at the Grossinger Hotel skating rink in New York. The former North American speed skating finalist bested a field of top American and Canadian jumpers in the event. (UPI)

Conigliario's Vision Is Normal; Pitchers Worry

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
It looks like Boston's Tony Conigliario is seeing just one baseball again — and seeing it well — and that should give American League pitchers some unpleasant visions about the upcoming baseball season.

The slugging Red Sox outfielder was hit on the left temple by a pitch from Jack Hamilton of California last Aug. 18 and he did not return for the remainder of the season or the World Series because of double vision.

But Conigliario showed he is regaining his batting eye by cracking a single and double and hitting the ball hard in his

Depths Pays Dividends For Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Kansas made outstanding depth pay off for its first Big Eight swimming championship in the best meet the league has ever held. Only two meet records survived as Oklahoma led the way with seven new marks.

Kansas ended the three-day meet. Defending champ Iowa State surpassed its 1967 efforts all down the line, yet finished a distant second with 98 points.

Oklahoma scored 95, Oklahoma State 45 1/2, Missouri 38, Nebraska 24 1/2, Kansas State 20 and Colorado 9.

Oklahoma had an 8-7 edge over Kansas in gold medals, and Iowa State won the other three. Kansas won two of the meet's three relays and KU's Jim Askins both diving events. The Jayhawks set five meet marks, Iowa State two.

Doug Hellerson of Oklahoma became a triple winner by taking the 1,650-yard freestyle in 17:27.8 to go with his earlier meet marks in the 200 and 500 freestyle events.

OU's Charles Schober completed his sweep of the two backstroke records with a 2:01.2 in the 200, while teammate Skip Hutcheon made it two breaststroke records with a 2:16.8 in the 200. OU's 400 yard medley relay team won in 3:36.5, also a record.

Other new marks Saturday were a 52.1 by Iowa State's Bruce Lechler in the 100 butterfly and a 47.2 by Roy O'Connor of Kansas in the 100 freestyle.

only other at-bat as the Red Sox trounced Oakland 14-4 in an exhibition game Sunday at Winter Haven, Fla.

The Red Sox, who banged out 20 hits, broke the game open in the first inning by scoring six runs off Bob Rodriguez. George Scott contributed two triples to the Boston attack.

The new spitball rule continued to give pitcher trouble. This time two Chicago hurlers were ejected for touching their hands to their mouths in the Cubs' 3-1 loss to California.

Starter Frank Reberger was ejected in the second inning, and reliever Dean Burn was given the thumb an inning later. Each was given one warning by umpire Emmett Ashford.

There were three extra inning games Sunday. Two ended in ties, and both involved New York clubs.

The New York Mets tied St. Louis 1-1 in 14 innings, and the New York Yankees and Baltimore battled to a 7-7 standoff in 13 innings.

St. Louis scored in the sixth inning when Phil Gagliano reached third when Don Wilkerson misjudged his fly to left field and came home on Dick Simpson's single. The Mets tied it in the eighth on singles by Bud Harrelson, Ed Kranepool and Jerry Morales.

Brooks Robinson drove in five Baltimore runs with two homers and a double, Mike Hegan knocked in two Yankee runs with a pair of singles and kept Baltimore from winning in the bottom of the 10th by making a diving stop at first base of a ball hit by Dave Johnson.

In other exhibition action, Cincinnati beat the Chicago White Sox 3-1. Minnesota edged Detroit 5-4 in 10 innings. Philadelphia outslugged Pittsburgh 7-6 and Cleveland nipped San Francisco 5-4. Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 4-0. The Houston-Washington game was called off.

Don Pavletich was the key to Cincinnati's victory, pounding consecutive home runs. Leo Cardenas also homered for the Reds. Outfielder Pete Rose and catcher John Bench both left the Reds for two weeks active duty with an Army Reserve unit.

Minnesota gained its victory when rookie first baseman Bill Hahn drilled a two-out single with the bases loaded in the 10th inning. Harmon Killebrew hit a solo homer for Minnesota, and Jim Northrup clouted one for Detroit.

Tony Taylor singled home Denny Doyle, who tripled in the ninth inning for Philadelphia's victory. Pittsburgh had tied it in the top of the inning when Jose Pagan smacked his second homer of the game. Cookie Rojas, Philadelphia's jack-of-all-positions, ended his holdout by coming to terms.

Cleveland got all of its five runs in the fourth inning off Mike McCormick and then held off San Francisco which scored three times in the ninth.

Los Angeles' new shortstop, Zoilo Versalles who came from Minnesota, drove in two runs and started three double plays for the Dodgers.

Blue Devils Enter National Tourney

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Duke, stalled for a couple days, finally completed the National Invitation Tournament field, and now that they are in, the Blue Devils hope for a fast getaway.

But the NCAA, already speeding along with one weekend of play completed, still is waiting for its last team only three days before this weekend's regionals when its tournament tempo really quickens.

Either Iowa or Ohio State will be the last team to qualify for the NCAA field when they meet Tuesday night on a neutral court at Purdue to break a tie for the Big Ten title and decide the automatic bid to the tournament.

Tournament officials took their time filling the NIT field. Not influenced by Duke's 12-10 loss to stalling North Carolina State Friday night in the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament, the officials waited until North Carolina bombed State 87-50 Saturday night for the title and then took the Blue Devils over runner-up State.

Duke, one of the favorites, helps open the NIT Thursday night against Oklahoma City, 20-6, a team that averages 90 points per contest.

Marshall, 17-7, and St. Peter's, N.J., 21-2, another pair of hot-shot clubs, play the first game of the opening double-header with the first round of the 16-team field to be completed Friday night and Saturday afternoon and night with twin-bills.

Iowa missed one chance at the title last Saturday night by losing to Michigan 71-70 at home after failing to make up a 16-point deficit.

Regardless of the outcome of the Iowa-Ohio State playoff, the winner is not expected to survive the regional at Lexington, Ky., in which fourth-ranked Kentucky is favored.

The Big Ten representative meets East Tennessee, 19-6, which got this far by beating Florida State 79-69 at Kent, Ohio, last Saturday.

Marquette, 22-5, after nudging Bowling Green 71-70 at Kent, takes on Kentucky in the second game at Lexington Friday night.

Houston, top-ranked at 29-0, is favored to handle ninth-ranked Louisville, 20-6, Friday night at Wichita, Kan., and then beat the winner of the meeting between Texas Christian, 14-10, and Kansas State 19-7.

Houston got through the first round with a 94-76 victory over Chicago Loyola at Salt Lake City last Saturday night as Devin Hayes hit 49 points and took in 27 rebounds. Kansas State clinched the Big Eight title at home that night with a 49-47 decision over Oklahoma City.

Zeke Moore Gets Kickoff Return Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Zeke Moore of the Houston Oilers beat out another rookie, Noland Smith of Kansas City, for the kickoff return title in the American Football League last season, official final statistics revealed today.

Moore returned 14 kickoffs for 405 yards and an average of 28.9 yards a carry, edging Smith, who averaged 28.0 on 41 returns for 1,148 yards.

Smith, the Chief's 5-foot-6 1/4 rookie, ran back the most kickoffs for the most yards and also set a league record with a 106-yard touchdown return against Denver.

Two other rookies, Floyd Little of Denver and Dick Post of San Diego, were third and fourth, Little averaging 26.9 and Post 24.7.

Moore scored the only other touchdown on a kickoff, a 92-yard return.

Denver, as a team, had the best average, 25.3 yards, to 23.5 for Kansas City.

UCLA, No. 2, is the choice at Albuquerque, N.M. The Bruins, 25-1, open against New Mexico State, 22-5, with New Mexico, No. 7 at 23-3, opposing Santa Clara, 22-3, in the other game there Friday night.

New Mexico State ousted Weber State 61-57 at Salt Lake City while Santa Clara won the WCAC title by whipping California Loyola 77-62.

The East regional at Raleigh, N.C., is wide open as Columbia, No. 8 at 22-4, takes on Davidson, No. 10, at 23-4, and St. Bonaventure, No. 3 at 23-0, collides with North Carolina, No. 5, at 25-3.

Columbia reached the regional by routing LaSalle 83-69 before Davidson overcame St. John's, N.Y., 79-70, last Saturday afternoon at College Park, Md. The Bonnies eliminated Boston College 102-93 at Kingston, R.I.

The winners Friday night play Saturday night for the right to the semifinals Friday, March 22 at Los Angeles with the finals there Saturday, March 23.

The NIT first round continues Friday night when Kansas, 19-7, meets Temple, 19-8, and Villanova, 18-8, takes on Wyoming, 18-8.

On Saturday, Army, 20-4, opposes Notre Dame, 18-8, and Bradley, 19-8, meets Long Island U., 21-1, in the afternoon before Fordham, 17-7, clashes with Duquesne, 18-6, and Dayton, 17-9, meets West Virginia, 19-8, at night.

The quarter-finals are next Monday and Tuesday, the semifinals Thursday, March 21, and the final Saturday, March 23.

The small colleges started today with Guilford, N.C., 25-4, top-seeded in the 32-team, week-long NAIA tourney at Kansas City.

In the NCAA small college division, Indiana State, Evansville, Trinity, Tex., Ashland, Cheyney State, Nevada Southern, Kentucky Wesleyan, and American International made it to the quarter-finals this weekend at Evansville, Ind., after victories last Saturday.

Convert Pants Stretcher Into Sweater Stretcher

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—If the pants your men and boys are now wearing are too narrow to go on pants stretchers, do not throw the stretchers away. After washing a child's wool sweater in a cold water soap, slip the shoulders over the pants stretchers, then button the sweater. Pull the stretcher to the proper width and place foam plastic of the right size into the sleeves. Foam plastic pieces that come packed around electric appliances, typewriters, etc., work fine. Hang it up and the sweater dries very quickly.—SHIRLEY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—My lined plastic tablecloth has stretched in some places even though I always use pads under hot dishes. Please, can someone tell me what I can do to make it lay flat again?—MRS. G. W. H.

DEAR POLLY—I am answering Lorena, who stains her iron pillowcases with the cold cream she puts on her face at night. In the first place the cold cream is not doing her face any good if it is on the pillowcase. I suggest that she put it on about one-half hour before bedtime and then tissue it off. A light film will remain but would not be so messy. Her skin would probably absorb most of it in the half-hour.

Another suggestion is to take one of her husband's second-best T-shirts and slip one over her pillow at night. That is what my husband used to do to keep the oil off his pillowcase in the days before he got a short haircut. These shirts can be washed every other day as most of us throw a load of white or light-colored clothes into the washer at least that often. Too bad we do not come equipped with permappress skins, isn't it?—MRS. F.

DEAR POLLY—Since so many of the Pointers sent in by readers have helped me, I do hope mine will help someone else. Folding tray tables or serving trays make a marvelous base for a child's play project. Tray and all can be easily put away until needed again.

Carry a piece of chalk in your purse when wearing white gloves. Light smudges can be temporarily covered and your gloves will not look soiled. (Polly's note—Be sure to brush or wipe the chalk off well if you are wearing a dark suit or carrying a dark cloth or suede bag.)

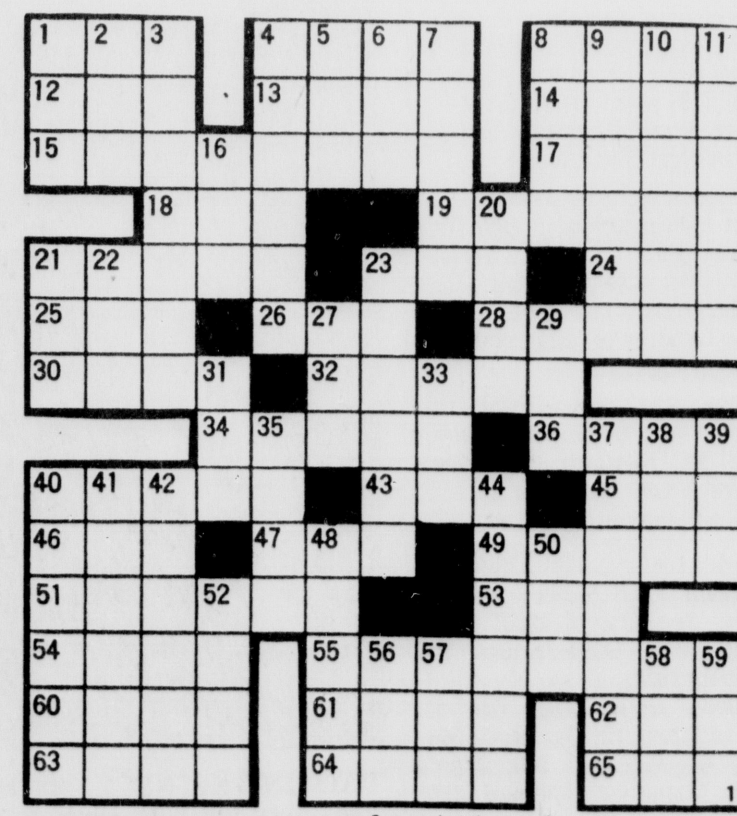

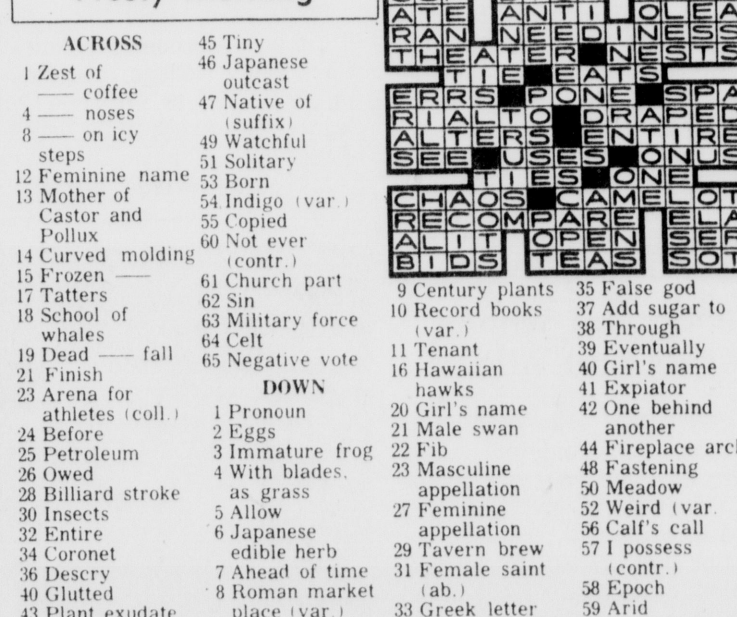

A coat of clear, colorless nail polish makes a good protective coating for stacked leather shoe heels.—MRS. M. S. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

'YOU WANT IT, COME AND GET IT'

Not Saying If He'll Try Again

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Association remains in Philadelphia for the third consecutive year—but 76er Coach Alex Hannum isn't saying whether he'll be back for another try.

The 76ers, defending NBA champions, clinched the crown Sunday afternoon with a 119-108 victory over the New York Knicks and Cincinnati knocked off second-place Boston 137-111, eliminating the Celtics. Philadelphia has a 7½ game edge, with a 57-18 record. Boston is 50-26 in the 82-game schedule.

In other games, Sunday, Detroit beat St. Louis 133-121, Baltimore bombed Los Angeles 118-89 and San Francisco turned back Seattle 118-112.

In Saturday's action, St. Louis tripped Chicago 115-109, Seattle got by San Diego 115-111 and Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 137-132 in overtime.

In American Basketball Association contests Sunday, Indiana topped New Orleans 113-105, Houston walloped Oakland 122-94, Pittsburgh whipped New Jersey 122-105 and Dallas edged Anaheim 112-110.

The 76ers apparently didn't expect to clinch Sunday, as the dressing room was bare of champagne, with only soda pop in sight as a happy Hannum went around shaking hands with his players and murmuring "great, just great. We did it again."

Hannum answered reports that he would leave the 76ers after the playoffs to go to another club by saying, "I'm complimented that my name has been mentioned for another job. I have not resigned here. My contract is up at the end of the season and I will negotiate with the 76ers or possibly somebody else."

"Right now I'm extremely happy and am thinking only of the 76ers and the playoffs. That's all that's on my mind right now. Let's just wait and see what happens."

What happened Sunday was a big second-period for Philadelphia, triggered by Hal Green and Bill Cunningham, sending the 76ers from a 27-25 lead after one quarter to a 50-33 margin midway in the second.

Greer chipped in 13 of his 28 points and Cunningham 10 of his 18 in the spur.

The Knicks, trailing by 29 points, 98-69, entering the final period gave a sellout crowd of 19,500 an exciting finish as they got to within 113-107 with 1½ minutes left before Wilt Chamberlain put the clamps to the bid.

Chamberlain poured in Philadelphia's last six points to ice the verdict. Big Wilt had 28 points, on 11 of 15 from the field and six of 12 foul shots. He also added 27 rebounds and 10 assists.

Connie Dierking scored 36 points in leading Cincinnati past Boston. Oscar Robertson contributed 29 points as the Royals built a 34-19 lead and never were headed. Larry Siegfried was high for the Celtics with 23.

Eddie Miles paced Detroit's triumph over St. Louis with 35 points and Dave Bing added 30. Lou Hudson led the Hawks with 24. The Pistons moved to within two games of third-place New York in the Eastern Division while remaining one-half game ahead of fifth-place Cincinnati.

Baltimore stormed out to a 96-66 third-period lead over Los Angeles and coasted in as Ray Scott, Kevin Loughery and Earl Monroe scored 29, 22 and 21 points, respectively, for the winners.

Veteran Rudy LaRusso sparked San Francisco to its victory over Seattle with 25 points. The Warriors led 62-49 at halftime and then had to stave

Hawkins, Vaughn Hit Hard

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Connie Hawkins and Chico Vaughn turned on their magical scoring touch and presto... New Jersey disappeared and Pittsburgh's magic number shrunk to two.

Hawkins scored 36 points and Vaughn 25 as the Pipers mauled the Americans 122-106 at home Sunday night in the American Basketball Association for a three-game lead over Minnesota in the Eastern Division.

The Pipers, with four games left, now need any combination of two victories or two Muskies losses to win the title.

Hawkins dunked a basket to break a 75-all tie and New Jersey, trying to hang on for the fourth and final playoff spot in the East, never caught up.

New Orleans had its Western Division title hopes delayed when the Bucs dropped a 113-105 decision to visiting Indiana while Dallas edged host Anaheim 112-110 and Houston belted Oakland 122-94 at Houston in other games.

In the National Basketball Association, Cincinnati clobbered Boston 137-111, Philadelphia easily handled New York 119-108, Detroit whipped St. Louis 133-121, Baltimore mauled Los Angeles 119-89 and San Francisco outlasted Seattle 118-112.

Indiana, which trounced New Jersey 120-99 Saturday night, broke away from an 85-83 lead entering the last quarter and Jimmy Rayl scored six points in the last minute to clinch the victory. Roger Brown finished with 32 points for Indiana.

New Orleans now leads Denver by only three games despite the Rockets' 107-102 loss to Kentucky Saturday night.

Dallas, which halted Pittsburgh 129-109 Saturday night, moved a half game back of Denver when Charles Beasley hit two free throws with four seconds left against Anaheim, eliminating the Amigos from the playoffs.

The Chaparrals had to make up a 105-96 deficit with 3:39 left. Houston, all but wrapping up the fourth playoff spot in the West, hit its first 10 shots from the field in the second half to break away from a 49-44 half-time lead. Art Becker had 25 points, but the Oaks' Jim Hadnot took scoring honors with 33.
